LUTHER AND THE AVANT GARDE

Luther broke the mould. He was an avantgardist. Who are the social visionaries today? Who are avantgardists of our time? Is it the artists?

Some 70 artists from around the world launch their response to the pressing issues of the day in a former prison in Wittenberg. The exhibition is augmented by special presentations in two churches in Berlin and Kassel.

May 19 to September 17, 2017

International modern art meets the pugnacious visionary Martin Luther. This is the starting point of the exhibition „Luther and the Avantgarde“. However, the focus lies not on the great reformer as an historical figure, but as a fountain of ideas and a socio-cultural avantgardist of his time. He challenged the existing power structures, highlighted injustices and unleashed a process of reforms, which reverberated across all areas of society. Luther changed the world. Who are the great initiators, the admonishers, the innovators today? Where does art stand now? Are artists the social avantgardist of our time?

Some 70 artists from across five continents set out to examine the fascination surrounding Luther, and, like the great reformer before them, pre-occupy themselves intensively with the pressing social issues of our day. They articulate their attitudes to freedom and its adversaries, denatogoy and resistance, responsibility and tolerance against the backdrop of profound social conflicts and a multilingual global media landscape. On show are paintings, sculptures, installations, murals, photographs, posters, films, video and sound works and performances. In addition, Bazon Brock is extending an open invitation to attend his Walters' School in Wittenberg for a period of 40 days.

Luther and the Avantgarde is a cooperation between the Stiftung für Kunst und Kultur (Foundation for Art and Culture, Bonn) and the Reformationsjubiläum 2017 e.V. (www.r2017.org) and part of the World Reformation Exhibition.

WITTENBERG

Freedom behind bars: The central exhibition venue is the Old Prison in Wittenberg, which has been purposefully refurbished for the exhibition and which is to be made accessible to the public. The former cells, staircases and common rooms, the prison courtyard and the loggia have been transformed into exhibition spaces – an unusual setting for artists and visitors alike. Many of the works on show have been created especially for the exhibition. Sixty-five of the some 70 artistic positions are being exhibited in Wittenberg itself, complemented by solo presentations in Berlin's Church of St. Matthew and in Kassel's Klosterkirche.

In Kassel the church tower is being transformed into a lightbox.
